Army to Begin County's Scrap Drive March 1

Monday, March 1, will be proclaimed Hope Salvage Day, and Army trucks that day will begin a week's campaign of gathering up scrap, covering not only Hope but every country road in the county.

This was announced at a conference at 10 o'clock this morning in the courthouse of the County Salvage Committee, headed by A. A. Albritton, with Captain Paul Clinkscales of Camp Chaffee, acting for the Army; and Wallace Cowan of Little Rock, acting for the State Salvage Commission.

Following this morning's meeting, Captain Clinkscales went on a speaking tour of Hope's schools, both white and negro, today, and he will tour the county schools Tuesday and Wednesday.

"Donating scrap metal to the Army is the same as passing the ammunition in Northern Africa," said Captain Clinkscales.

At the meeting the Army's scrap drive for Hempstead County was outlined by Captain Clinkscales and Wallace Cowan of Little Rock.

The scrap shortage is so serious in the nation that scrap campaigns and collections have been turned over to the Army working through civilian agencies.

Captain Clinkscales pointed out that the citizens of Hempstead who had no scrap to donate to the Army, still could be valuable as a "locator."

A locator is a person who finds abandoned or untitled scrap and reports its location. Then civilian agencies or the Army finds the owner and secures it for the Army's scrap drive.

Captain Clinkscales urged all residents of Hempstead County to begin looking for scrap and pile it at the curb in front of their homes or at mail boxes. Where scrap is too heavy to move, a notice to Aubrey Albritton, county salvage chairman, will schedule it for the Army's heavy-duty equipment. The Army trucks will eventually move through every street and road in Hempstead County.

School children are urged to do their part by establishing scrap piles in their school yards. Such collections materially aid the Army in supplying the scrap to the nation's hungry steel mills.

Bremen Hard Hit by Large RAF Bombers

London, Feb. 22 (AP)—The German port of Bremen was heavily attacked by RAF bombers last night in a raid from which all bombers returned, it was officially announced today.

An air ministry communique said: "Last night Bremen was heavily attacked by our bombers, one of our aircraft is missing."

It was the first raid on Bremen since last Oct. 20 when British Mosquito bombers struck that city along with Wilhelmshaven and Hannover.

Wilhelmshaven has borne the brunt of the RAF's most recent raids on Germany, last Thursday night and again Friday night. The raids were reported on the continent Saturday night.

27 Japanese Jailed by Government Agent

San Francisco, Feb. 22 (AP)—Twenty-seven Japanese from the Tule Lake (Calif.) relocation center were in jail today. 14 of them at Alturas, Calif., and 13 at Klamath Falls, Ore.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation here declined comment on the case but admitted its agents were working on it.

Cause of the detentions was not immediately available but it was known there had been some argument in connection with questionnaires regarding military service. It was understood the questionnaires were similar to those filled out by persons seeking visas for inland civilian jobs.

The detentions were made by the camp's military police under the Service Command with Headquarters at Fort Douglas, Utah.

Subs Sink Two Passenger Ships in Atlantic

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—The Navy reported today that more than 450 persons, mostly service personnel, were dead or missing as a result of submarine torpedoing of two American passenger-cargo ships in the North Atlantic early this month.

The statement said: "Two medium-sized United States passenger-cargo vessels were torpedoed and sunk by enemy submarines within four days of each other early in February in the North Atlantic. Both attacks occurred at night, and both ships sank within 30 minutes."

"Loss of life among the merchant crewmen and passengers, the latter comprising civilians and personnel of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard, was heavy in both sinkings."

"More than 600 from the total complement of over 900 of the first vessel, and more than half of the approximately 500 persons aboard the second ship, are either known dead or missing. Next of kin of the casualties have been notified."

A Navy spokesman, who said that no details of the attacks had reached here yet, described the more than 850 persons dead or missing as mostly members of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard. The civilians were assumed to be technicians or other war workers.

All those on board except the crewmen were traveling as passengers, the spokesman said, and the ships were not strictly in the sense of the term in that they were not actually being operated by either of the services.

The Navy spokesman said he was unable to say whether the vessels were traveling in convoy, although it seemed probable that they were since most North Atlantic shipping is now organized on a convoy basis.

It was not known here whether any survivors had yet reached port, but the belief was that if they had not they would be arriving within a day or so.

The fact that the casualties were described as either "dead or missing" left some that a few survivors other than those known to have escaped the twin Marine disasters might eventually turn up and reduce the total of missing but no hope was expressed here that the loss would be substantially cut down.

The sinkings of the two ships reported the third repulse in three days of Japanese units attempting to cross the Salween river in China's southwestern province of Yunnan.

The Japanese announced they had occupied Kwangchowwan, the French concession on Luchow peninsula in the southern Chinese province of Kwangtung "with the full understanding of the French government."

Earlier comparable ship sinkings Bliss, Scott, Rutledge, Hewes and Ledestown, off North Africa last November, but loss of life in those instances was relatively small.

Another incident which ranked as a naval disaster was the loss of the cargo ship Pollux on the Newfoundland coast during a gale last March, but the Pollux, being a cargo ship, had a small complement of officers and men aboard. Of those 92 were lost.

The destroyer Truxtun, which broke up in the same storm, lost 97 officers and men.

Even in the bitter fighting in the Pacific the Navy has had a record of small loss of life on transports and the vessels Elliott, Coolidge, Little, Gregory and Calhoun, which were sunk by Japanese attack in the Solomon Islands, went down with a very small death list.

The Coolidge, carrying 4,000 men, hit a mine and sank off the Solomon Islands last winter but the Navy announced all except four men were saved. The President Coolidge had been converted into a 21,936-ton Army transport.

The transport Bliss, sunk off North Africa in November, was the former liner President Cleveland, gross tonnage 12,568 and the Scott was the converted liner President Pierce, 12,679 tons. The other transports lost off Africa, all of around 9,000 tons, were before their conversion the liners Santa Lucia, Exeter and Excalibur.

Several airplanes have made non-stop flights between Africa and the United States during the present war.

Arkadelphia School Destroyed by Fire

Arkadelphia, Feb. 22 (AP)—Arkadelphia's elementary school pupils had an unscheduled vacation today due to destruction of their four-story school building by fire of undetermined origin Sunday.

Shipment of export freight to U. S. ports by American railroads has increased more than 40 per cent since Pearl Harbor.

Heavier loads and more efficient handling have added the equivalent of 151,000 freight cars to the American railway system.

Russians Take 2 Key Points in Push to Dnieper

—Europe

By EDDY GILMORE
Moscow, Feb. 22 (AP)—Mopping-up operations in the Donets basin have carried the Red Army into numerous towns about 50 miles south and southwest of Voroshilovgrad, the Russians said today, while far to the west Soviet columns were reported poised for a 34-mile march to the Dnieper river after capturing Pavlograd and Krasnodar.

The Russians also announced their drives west of Rostov, north of Kursk toward Orel, and West of Krasnodar toward the Black sea coast were rolling forward.

A communique said nothing about the Dnieper valley threat, where the Russian troops were last reported beyond Krasnodar, 60 miles southwest of Kharkov.

But it told of the capture of Bokovo-Anthrast, a coal center and railway station, and of upper Nagolchik, a large town, in the drive closing around German garrisons remaining in the east-central areas of the Donets coal country.

Elsewhere in the Donets basin, bitter fighting again was reported south of Kramatorsk, where a Soviet pincer was thrust toward the industrial center of Stalino. In this area a large German tank force was repulsed as it tried to regain lost ground and the fighting, the Russians said, was extremely violent with the German suffering heavy losses.

A Soviet special communique Saturday night announced the taking of Pavlograd and Krasnodar, major rail junctions.

From the first, the Russians could strike toward Dnieperopetrovsk, in the upper bend of the Dnieper river, or down the railroad toward Zaporozhe, on the western bank of the river below Dnieperopetrovsk.

Both captured cities are on tributaries of the Dnieper and the seizure of their railways had severed all German communications between Kharkov and the Donets basin regions.

Allied Bombers Continue Raids on Jap Bases

By The Associated Press
Allied bombers continued their thundering attacks on the Japanese positions in the Solomons and in Burma today.

After showering the Buin-Faia area in the North Solomons with 23 tons of bombs on Saturday, the Allied raiders returned to the same area Sunday with huge loads of explosives and started fires visible for 50 miles, a communique from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced.

Ambon in the Dutch East Indies also was attacked and six Japanese planes which tried to intercept the attack were shot down.

From India the RAF raided targets near Mandalay and on the Irrawaddy river in Burma and set large fires.

From Chungking, the Chinese reported the third repulse in three days of Japanese units attempting to cross the Salween river in China's southwestern province of Yunnan.

The Japanese announced they had occupied Kwangchowwan, the French concession on Luchow peninsula in the southern Chinese province of Kwangtung "with the full understanding of the French government."

Earlier comparable ship sinkings Bliss, Scott, Rutledge, Hewes and Ledestown, off North Africa last November, but loss of life in those instances was relatively small.

Rationing Calls for 50% Cut in Canned Goods

—Washington

Washington, Feb. 22 (AP)—American householders are to be allowed less than half of the have been in the habit of eating under a "scant ration" program starting next Monday.

The March allowance announced by the Office of Price Administration last night provides on an average for only about three cans per person for the month.

Price Administrator Prentiss Brown estimated the civilian supply in action in the South Pacific with the probable loss of 102 lives—but a companion submarine exacted swift vengeance by sinking two of the heavily escorted Japanese transports the Argonaut had been stalking.

The Argonaut, before it received a mortal wound, had sent a torpedo crashing into an enemy destroyer with unknown result.

The transports, one of 10,000 tons and the other of 7,000 tons, were sunk within two hours after the Argonaut had gone down off the south coast east of New Guinea. The action occurred more than a month ago.

(A Washington navy communique yesterday said the Argonaut had failed to return from patrol operations and must be presumed to be lost but did not give the location of the Argonaut at the time it was last heard from.)

The two transports sunk and the one other troopship in the convoy apparently were highly prized by the Japanese and possibly contained high ranking officers for they were escorted by six destroyers and by aircraft.

Commander Leon J. Huffman, submarine division commander at fleet headquarters here, gave this account of the action.

"The Argonaut was on offensive patrol against enemy shipping and intercepted a Japanese convoy not far from Rabaul, New Britain, apparently bound from Lae, New Guinea."

"The only report on the action was from an army reconnaissance plane which first reported an enemy convoy attacking a submarine. An later reported Jap destroyers shelling and sinking it. The plane also reported that the Argonaut torpedoed an enemy destroyer."

"As we reconstruct it from the reports, the Argonaut had intercepted the convoy, torpedoed a destroyer, was attacked with depth charges and its bow broke surface and circling Jap destroyers pumped shells into it, destroying it."

"Revenge for the sinking of the Argonaut was very rapid. Another American submarine, two hours later, closer to Rabaul, made an attack which was a masterpiece. It found the convoy heavily reinforced with six destroyers and air escort. The Japs must have highly prized it to have such protection. It intercepted a Japanese convoy not far from Rabaul, New Britain, apparently bound from Lae, New Guinea."

"The attacking submarine penetrated the destroyer screen and sank the two biggest ships of the convoy."

Commander Huffman said the avenging submarine apparently did not know the fate of the Argonaut.

The Argonaut's commanding officer was Lieut. Commander John Reeves Pierce, Executive Officer was R. W. Robertson, of Portsmouth, N. H., and a survivor of the submarine Squalus which sank off Portsmouth in May, 1939, with a loss of 26 lives.

The Argonaut, sixth American submarine announced as lost in this war and the fourth lost by combat operations in the Pacific, originally was a mine-layer but later was fitted with new engines to give it the high speed of fleet submarines. The submersible was on patrol duty in the Pacific when the war started and since then had carried out notable operations while remaining off shore secrets.

Published records gave the Argonaut the distinction of being the largest submarine in the world. It was 381 feet long and carried six torpedo tubes and six inch guns.

When we approach that sacred peace table, we must cast out of our hearts all thought of revenge and hatred."

Housewife Guide on Food Rationing

Washington, Feb. 22 (AP)—Here's the householder's schedule for food rationing:

Today: Registration begins and continues all week through out nation. Take "consumer declaration" and No. 1 ration books to schoolhouses, etc., to get No. 2 ration books. Clip from newspaper table of "point values" to guide future shopping.

All week: Don't try to buy, because grocers are forbidden to sell, any canned fruits, vegetables, fish, meat, suppos, baby, food, or frozen or dried variety of the same. You can buy anything else in the store, including bread, milk, cereals (including canned baby cereals), soap, cheese, fruits and vegetables, fresh meat, paper products, etc.

Monday, March 1—Resume buying canned, frozen and dried fruits and vegetables by the point rationing system. Sale of canned meat and fish still prohibited (probably be resumed at end of month as rationed items along with meat.

Americans Hurl Back 2 Attacks by Enemy Tanks

—Africa

By WES GALLGHER
Allied Headquarters in North Africa, Feb. 22 (AP)—A strong German armored force thrust 12 miles northwest through Kasserine Gap in the direction of Thala early today and engaged a British tank unit in a violent battle while American combat troops turned back two lesser thrusts westward toward Sbibia.

United States and British forces knocked out 14 Nazi tanks during heavy fighting yesterday and last night under a bright moon, but one German column of more than 70 tanks thrust to within eight miles of Thala, a junction in the Allied lines.

The German General Rommel was gambling desperately in an effort to score a knockout blow against the British First Army before the British Eighth Army could neutralize his Mareth line and push into the central Tunisian theater.

On the edge of a vast plateau eight miles from Thala, British and United States forces were engaged in a violent night and day tank battle, with the issue still in doubt.

British armored crews challenged the German tank column in an action which developed after events mentioned in today's communique.

The communique, referring to yesterday's fighting, said a strong Axis attack northwest of Kasserine "was successfully held by Allied forces after heavy fighting in which the enemy suffered casualties and tank losses" while other enemy tank and infantry attacks were repulsed south of Sbibia, itself 30 miles northeast of the village of Kasserine and 25 miles due east of Thala.

Allied spokesman said two German tank thrusts with a total of about 50 tanks from Kasserine gap which the Germans captured Saturday, toward the Algerian base of Tebessa—one by road and the other along the Hatat River—were hurled back almost 10 miles by American armor troops, who inflicted heavy losses.

Other enemy attacks were reported to have been repulsed near the Allied base of Medjez-el-Bab, more than 75 miles to the north. The Thala drive started early today—too late to be included in the daily communique.

In the earlier actions against Sbibia, about 20 German tanks took the road from the pass and about 30 struck out along the Hatat river valley.

The German groups were about 10 miles along the road toward Sbibia when they were met and hurled back almost to the mouth of the (Kasserine) gap by an American force.

Condition of Gandhi Said to Be Improved

New Delhi, Feb. 22 (AP)—Mahatma K. Gandhi weathered a crisis yesterday in the 12th day of his 21-day fast and today a government bulletin issued in Bombay said he appeared more comfortable and more cheerful. His comfort, however, was weak.

The report signed by six doctors said the frail Hindu ascetic entered the crisis at 4 p. m. yesterday. "He was seized with severe nausea and almost fainted and his pulse became nearly imperceptible," it said.

But later he took water and lime juice rallied and slept well into the night.

The text of the Bombay bulletin covering Gandhi's condition from yesterday afternoon said: "After a restless day Mr. Gandhi entered the crisis at 4 p. m. He was seized with severe nausea and almost fainted and his pulse became nearly imperceptible."

"Later he was able to take water with fruit lime juice. He rallied from the crisis and slept for about five and one-half hours well into the night. Today is his day of silence."

"He appears to be comfortable and is more cheerful. The heart is weaker."

For the second time since Gandhi's condition became alarming, Chakravarti Rajagopalachari, an Indian Congress leader, met today with William Phillips, President Roosevelt's envoy with ambassadorial rank, to discuss the situation. Their first meeting last Friday produced no tangible results.

sauerkraut in favor of Liberty cabbage. But Irving Berlin is still welcome at all of them and nobody has decided he should become

Is there a ruling to cover such cases?"

It seems there really is a Jenifer Jones for all my doubting it.
Plays "The Song of Bernadette" and is really Phyllis Isley there's Jennifer — one "n" — Jones of Aur-banna Va. Jennifer from Urbana is 13 and she writes "I think it's very funny to read about myself in the movies. . . Jennifer is a family name that runs back generations in my family—I thought I would write and tell you that there is such a person as Sincerely your Jennifer Jones. . . .

Michele Morgan introduced with such ballyhoo in last year's "Joan of Paris" is up for the musical "Higher and Higher." Funny how Michele's less tom-tommed co-star in "Joan" Paul Henreid has made faster progress — in
"Now Voyager" and "Casablanca." . . . But maybe not so funny when the shortage of personable males is considered. . .

American airmen are battering away at Hitler's war machine throughout Europe. Precision daylight bombing is taking a heavy toll of Der Fuehrer's production plants both in Germany and conquered territory. The huge, rugged Consolidated Liberators are playing their part, coming home safely, oftentimes with wings and control surfaces bullet riddled.

The four-motored Liberators cost about $350,000. Your purchase of War Bonds helps pay for them so our airmen may have superiority over the Nazi dictators. Keep buying War Bonds, regularly, every payday. You must if we are to win.

THE TERRIBLE EYE

BY EDWIN RUTT

INVITATION TO TAJ MAHAL

CHAPTER XV

IT was twilight at Wildover. And though there was still considerable time before any guests were due to arrive, the House of Channing was lit up like a gambling hall. When H. L. Channing gave a ball, he caused preparations for it to be made in plenty of time.

At the foot of the formal gardens, Mr. Calvin Meggs wandered like a tormented soul in a kind of luxuriant purgatory. As he wandered, Mr. Meggs muttered, "I am a ruined man," he muttered. "A ruined man." He seemed to have adopted it as a slogan.

But, all at once, Mr. Meggs discovered that he was not alone. A voice, too cheerful for Mr. Meggs' liking, said: "Good evening, sir."

Forthwith, a young gentleman materialized from the shadows.

In his vague way Mr. Meggs recognized this person. It was the same fellow who, at his niece's behest, had recently given him $10.

"Ah, young man," he said. "I trust," Jonah began, a trifle awkwardly, "that I find you well this evening."

"You don't," said Mr. Meggs. "Just between ourselves, my boy, I never felt worse in my life."

"I understand," said Jonah sympathetically. "The race was very unfortunate."

"Ha! You know about the race?" "Something about it," Jonah was cautious.

"Then, by gad," exclaimed Mr. Meggs, with unaccustomed violence, "you know more than I do. Because I don't know anything. I'm by no means certain that the horse who ran was my horse. But if he was," he paused, then added musingly, and entirely to himself, "if he was, I can't think how Bonaparte Brandy could ever turn in such a wretched performance."

Jonah looked at him compassionately. It was evident that the events of the day had unhinged the little man's reason.

"But, Mr. Meggs," he said, "your horse was Bucephalus. Not Bonaparte Brandy. Bonaparte Brandy won the Derby. In 1940."

"Don't I know it?" asked Mr. Meggs, with some asperity. "Well, I suppose you do. But I think you've been dwelling too much on a—er—fancied similarity between the two horses. For instance, Miss Channing told me that you consider your horse to be as good as Bonaparte Brandy."

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Wide World Sports Columnist

New York Feb. 22 —(AP)—Now that we're getting the details of what the big three college presidents meant in last week's statement about curtailing athletics it seems it was just what athletic director have been saying all along — "we'll keep athletics of some sort going as long as we can for the benefit of whatever boys are left in college."

The difference is that there weren't any tongues in cheeks when the presidents said it. . . . This dept. would not be too surprised if the big three continues "informal" competition even after the war. Yale and Harvard especially have been building up their intra-mural programs for some time and if they could find a way to get along with out big football games they might settle for contests between their championship class and "House" teams.

Song For Yale Grads.
When Harvard was old Harvard it never had a team.

And Harvard will be Harvard still if you get just what I mean. They say they'll play only for fun while their country is at war.

And you can't say that's an alibi when you think of last year's score.

Monday Matinee
Ollie Hunter's second-place two miles in 9:01.1 at the garden Saturday was faster than Greg Rice ever ran as a undergraduate but when Greg turned on his sprint Ollie looked as if he was running at war speed. . . . Bill Cox new head of the Phils was a catcher and a crosos country runner as a NYU freshman but he couldn't play at Yale because of the big three rule barring all transfer students from competition. . . . Billy Conn up from Camp Lee Va. last week reported he's a full-grown heavyweight now weighing 195; but he looked as if he could stand losing a few of those pounds.

Today's Guest Star
Alan Ward Oakland Calif. Tribune: "In normal times there were not sufficient GOOD ball players for league purposes. Today a war is on and that means the regular supply is reduced by half. Baseball chum is a young man's game. The young men are pitching for Uncle Sam."

Help Wanted
Applying for a job with the Minnesota ball club. . . . New Jersey Kid wrote: "I am a pitcher catcher and outfielder. I also have majored in journalism so I could report your games or be press agent."

Big Ten Decides to Play Freshmen
Chicago, Feb. 22 (AP)—The Western Conference today gave its freshman athletes orders to stand by for action.

The Big Ten, in dropping its long standing rule against the use of freshmen yesterday, also paved the way for service men who are getting schooling at member universities to play on varsity sports squads.

Starting with the spring sport program of baseball, outdoor track, tennis and golf, first-year students will be eligible to compete with the varsity. Wisconsin, only Big Ten school to maintain an intercollegiate boxing team, also was given permission to use freshmen in that sport at once.

The change in the rule which has stood with one brief exception in 1918, since 1904 means that freshmen and service men will be available for football next fall, thus virtually assuring the conference of a full grid season.

Thunder can seldom be heard more than 15 miles away.

Oaklawn's Racing Season Starts Today

Hot Springs Ark. Feb. 22 —(AP)—Oaklawn Park rang up the curtain today on its annual 30 day horse racing season despite recent efforts by Gov. Homer M. Adkins and in the legislature to prevent it.

The only thing that kept the city fathers from dusting off the welcome mat was the crowd that had it underfoot. Hotels were bulging and reservations were taken for the duration of the meet. The overflow slept in hotel lounges and lobbies until the late arrivals could find apartments or rooms in private homes.

The $1500 Mayor Leo P. McLaughlin in a general handicap topped the opening day program. A six-furlong sprint for three-year-olds and up at drew 10 entries. Top weighted with 116 pounds was A. C. Ernest's Alohot with an entry with Aletern. Aletern was given a 111-pound impost.

The only three year-old in the group was Mrs. R. Smith's Through Bound weighted at 112. The handicap is the fourth event on the eight-race program. Eight races will be run daily. The season will close March 27 with the $10000 Arkansas derby. All purses for feature races have been increased and the derby's doubled.

Saturday's program will be dedicated to the United Seamen's Relief fund. A percentage of the profits yet to be determined and the entire fate will be turned over to the fund.

The big guest population that has grown steadily the past 10 days apparently assured the park of adequate attendance. Fans were warned by the OPA however that investigators would be at the track to report out-of-town automobiles bearing "B" and "C" gas ration stickers. In the past the track has drawn heavily from Little Rock Pine Bluff and Arkansas' other larger population centers beyond the round trip range of "A" rations.

Governor Adkins unsuccessfully opposed the issuance of the Oaklawn permit by the State Racing Commission this year and then was unsuccessful in subsequent effort to have it up-ended. A bill to repeal the law legalizing racing and parimutuel betting was defeated in the state Senate a few weeks ago.

Big Opening Day Crowd at San Mateo
San Mateo Calif. Feb. 22 —(AP)—The Bay Meadows track management is convinced after Saturday's opening that it can get along on a five day basis for the next five weeks.

Despite wartime handicaps 6750 fans attended the opening. They came by such means as interurban trolleys horse-drawn trolleys and bicycles. Some walked.

The total pari-mutuel handle was $2,268.18 more than expected. The total for the opening day of the fall meeting last Oct. 3 when the 10,000 attended was $3,030.00.
